

EMCOMM PRODUCTS PRIVACY POLICY

EmComm Products LLC will NOT reveal ANY personal information collected to ANYONE outside the company. It will be used ONLY for the following purposes:

1. EmComm Products LLC will use your name and address to verify that you've purchased our products when you contact us for technical support, to request an upgrade to any product, or to request warranty service.
2. EmComm Products LLC will use your telephone number, mailing address or email address when necessary, to contact you in direct support of your order or in response to a request for technical support.
3. If you place an order from the EmComm Products LLC web site, your email address is a required item. This is necessary to send you instructions on how to download updated product manuals, and to acknowledge that your order has been received and is being processed.
4. EmComm Products LLC makes NO advertising or promotional telephone calls, or email notifications and will NOT send you unsolicited faxes, mail, or email, except a short email message or letter may sometimes be sent whenever a new product or version of a previously purchased product is made available, or to advise you of any product safety issues.
